

School Honors

Grant Today

The accolades he earned during 22 years as a teacher at Ocean Beach Elementary School will be tendered to W. Franklin Grant today.

Grant, who retired last June, will be honored at a reception in the school cafeteria between 2 and 4 p.m. The veteran educator, who started teaching at Ocean Beach in February, 1946, now resides in Los Gatos.

Sponsoring the event is the Ocean Beach PTA, with Mrs. Barbara Cole in charge.

OB Park Finished By April

Originally, July 13 was set as the completion date for Ocean Beach Park.

Now it appears that the $150,000 project, covering approximately eight acres along the beach between Niagara Avenue and the Flood Control Channel, won't be finished until April.

Construction of the facility began last April 1.

City Engineer Edward F. Gabrielson reported Friday that the construction phase of the park has been completed. He said the contractor, Haddad Construction Co., has finished work on parking lots, walks, retaining walls, grading and a sprinkler system.

Gabrielson attributed the long delay to the following factors:

1—After the contract was let, a change in plans caused the initial delay. The change provided for raising the level of the park's western area to protect it against high tides.

2—Extensive vandalism hampered the contractor on numerous occasions.

3—Construction came to a virtual standstill in June, July and August. During those months, crowds on the beach and traffic congestion in the area forced further delays.

The Public Works Department will start landscaping the park Dec. 1. Lawns will be installed first, and then trees and shrubs will be planted.

However, a public works spokesman pointed out that the landscaping won't be completed until the latter part of April.

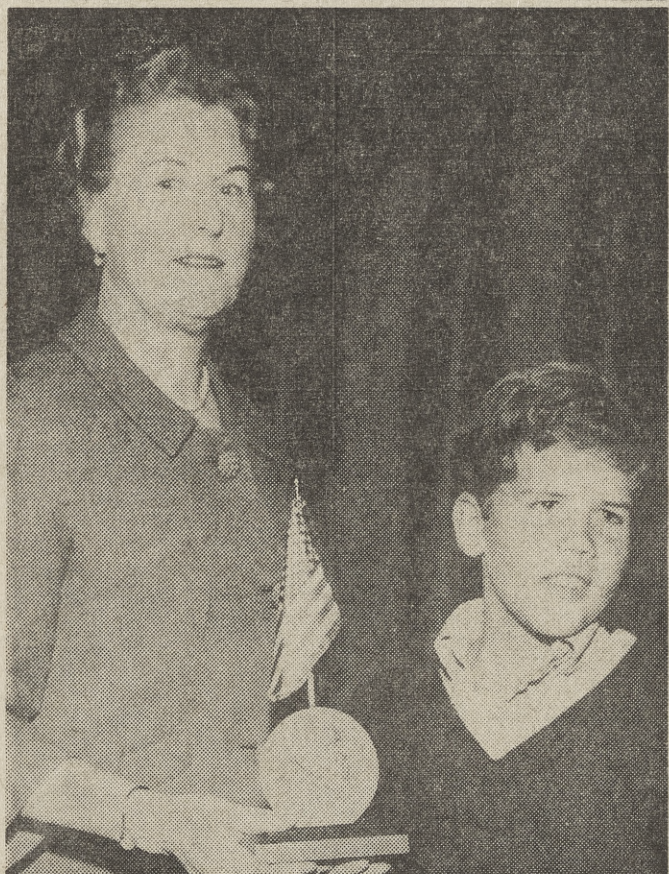

The Ocean Beach Town Council spearheaded the campaign for construction of the park.

CofC Elects

'Outstanding'

Award Won By Adult Teacher

Mrs. Leona Plummer, a member of the Midway Adult School faculty for nine years, has been cited as an outstanding teacher by the southern section of the California Council for Adult Education.

The group's Calco Award was presented to Mrs. Plummer during a banquet at Monte Corona Conference Center. She was one of 13 teachers in Southern California chosen for the honor.

A local resident for 16 years, Mrs. Plummer teaches typing, business English and civil service secretarial training. She earned an AB degree in business education at Colorado State College, and is currently studying for her master's degree at San Diego State.

She formerly was secretary to the president at Muskingum College in New Concord, Ohio, and was editorial assistant for publications of the United Presbyterian Church in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mrs. Plummer's husband is Rev. Clark W. Plummer, pastor of the Pacific Portal Community Church. They reside at 3060 North Evergreen St. with their son, Dean, 13, a student at Collier Junior High School.

Eric Jakus

Airman Eric E. Jakus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle A. Jakus of 3128 Zola St., has completed basic training at Amarillo AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to the Air Force Technical Training Center at Lackland AFB, Tex., for specialized schooling as a security policeman. Airman Jakus, a 1967 graduate of Point Loma High School, attended Colorado State University.

MAHON'S LATEST VENTURE

Boxing Champ Heads New Ballet Company

A local resident who has been a lightweight boxing champion, a track star of Olympics quality, a probation officer, an owner of a commercial fishing boat sunk in a rare local "chubasco" and the operator of a chain of car washes has become the head of a superlative new ballet company.

Robert Mahon of 3982 Ingraham St., is the creator and general director of the California Ballet Company, a group of professional dancers of international stature which performed here last summer. The company plans future performances here. Meanwhile dancers are giving lecture demonstrations at the Circle Arts Theater in Kearny Mesa.

Mahon's interest in ballet comes from his wife, Maxine, who has worked with the San Diego Company and the National Ballet of Washington, D.C. Before Robert met Maxine four years ago, ballet was the farthest thing from his mind.

Bob started his education at Ocean Beach Elementary School and then attended Point Loma High School and San Diego State College. He still holds career high point records for track and field at Point Loma High School. In his senior year he won the hurdles, the long jump and the relay for the season's point total record.

From 1948 to 1952 Robert attended San Diego State College. He holds the freshman and career high point records at State. He averaged 11 points per track meet for four years.

Later, from 1953 to 1954, at the Naval Training Center he never missed a meet even with injuries. He attained 25 feet in the broad jump, 6' 4" in the high jump, 47.0 in the quarter mile and 14.1 in the high hurdle. In the all Navy meets for two years he had a total of five firsts, two seconds and three thirds.

While in the Navy he had second best time in the 400 meter hurdle. He would have qualified for the Olympics if it had not been for a foot injury.

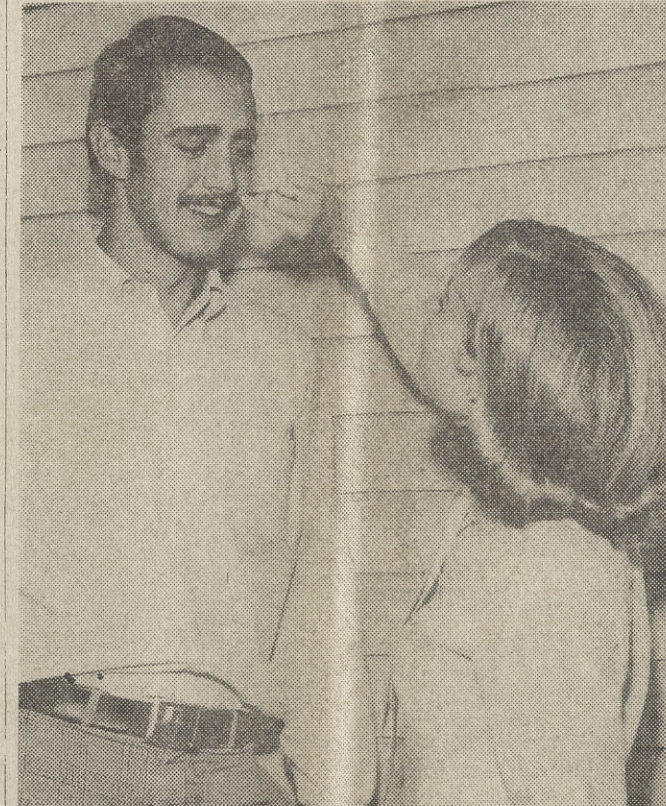

In 1951 and 1952 Mahon held the light-heavy weight boxing title at San Diego State College.

After graduation Robert went through several careers. He worked as a juvenile investigator in the local probation department. He owned a commercial fishing boat later, but it sank in a rare local hurricane.

Mahon is a past president of the Old Mission Beach Athletic Club and is still a member of the Beaches Committee of the Park and Recreation Board. He has been active with Over-The-Line events here.

Then Bob met Maxine. Maxine had contacts with the Washington company and was herself a talented dancer. She interested Bob in financing a ballet company and now he is the brains and money behind the California Ballet Company.

Mahon hopes to build a cultivated and enthusiastic ballet public here, but there are still hurdles ahead.

BEWARE THOSE BRISTLES—Ginny Dewey, a candidate for queen of California Western's homecoming, playfully tests the stability of the mustache grown for the event by Chris Lee. Lee, a 20-year-old junior from Los Angeles, is one of numerous entries in the homecoming mustache-growing contest. The winner will be announced Wednesday during "Fiesta Night" in the campus dining hall.

Parents Seek Poodle That Bit Their Boy

A Peninsula youngster faces a series of painful anti-rabies injections unless the dog which bit him is located.

The boy is Samuel Zauri, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Zauri, of 4420 Orchard Ave.

Samuel was playing in his backyard when the dog approached him and bit one of his fingers, piercing the skin. The animal had followed the couple's other son, Anthony, 16, and some of his friends after they left Point Loma High School.

Mrs. Zauri described the dog as a large standard poodle with black fur. It was wearing a collar, but had no city license.

Anyone seeing a poodle of that description is urged to contact Mrs. Zauri at 223-6878.

Community Plan Faces Its Final Hurdle Tuesday

The Peninsula Community Plan faces its final hurdle Tuesday.

At 9 a.m. the City Council will hold a public hearing on the plan in the Council chambers, 12th floor, City Administration Building.

Recommended by the City Planning Commission after a hearing Oct. 9, the 20-year project encompasses Point Loma, Ocean Beach and Loma Portal.

Peninsulas, Inc., prepared the plan after two and one-half years of study.

Copies of the final draft are available for $2. They can be purchased at the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, 1352 Sunset Cliffs Blvd.; Ocean Beach Town Council, 1835 Bacon St.; Rowland Realty, 4725 Voltaire St.; and Boggs Bros. Catering Service, 2841 West Canon St.

Captain Takes Over As New NTC Chaplain

A veteran of three wars has assumed duties as senior chaplain at the Naval Training Center.

He is Capt. Robert C. Fenning, USN, who recently returned from a tour of duty with the Third Marine Division in Vietnam.

Chaplain Fenning Friday relieved Capt. Hugh T. McManus, USN, who served as NTC's senior chaplain for more than two years. Capt. McManus has been assigned duty as wing chaplain, Third Marine Aircraft Wing, El Toro, Calif.

Council Sets Deadline For Appointments

City councilmen have set an application deadline of one week from tomorrow for persons interested in appointments to three vacancies on the City Council.

Councilmen took the action Thursday at the second of two conferences called to decide whether the vacancies should be filled by appointment or election. Councilmen voted 5-3 for appointments after hearing support for that method from the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, the San Diego Taxpayers Association, and the city's Charter Review Commission.

The only council seat affected locally is that of Councilman Jack Walsh who will be sworn in as a county supervisor Jan. 6. Walsh has not yet decided when he will resign his council job.

Only persons living within council districts where a vacancy occurs are eligible for a pointment, according to Mayor Frank Curran. To be eligible, a person must have lived in the district for at least a year and been an elector of the city for three years.

Standard resume forms available in the city clerk's office on the 12th floor, city Administration Building, must be returned by 5 p.m. Nov. 25. All applications will be strictly confidential.

Councilman Tom Hom, who has been elected to the state Assembly, said he thinks an election should have been held. Hom said he could go along with appointments for two positions, but not three. Also dissenting were Walsh, and Councilman Floyd Morrow.

Councilmen favored the appointments method to save persons, if they had had to be elected, from running twice within a three month period.

Persons appointed to Hom and Walsh's districts will serve until December, 1969. If they hope to keep their seats, they will have to run in the September primary and November general elections for the unexpired two year portions of both terms.

In the third district, where Harry Scheidele was elected to the Board of Supervisors, the persons appointed will also serve until September, but will run for a full four year term since Scheidele's present four-year term ends in December, 1969.

ASSUMES NEW DUTIES—Capt. Robert C. Fenning (right), new senior chaplain at the Naval Training Center, discusses administrative procedures with his predecessor, Capt. Hugh T. McManus. Capt. Fenning will head a department staffed by 20 chaplains of all faiths. He recently completed a tour of duty in Vietnam.

Can't Resist A Bargain?

Have you ever been to an auction, and when you leave, you've bought more things than you can use? That's what happened to Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs who bought 48 maple captain's chairs... and they live in a trailer!!!!

They placed an ad in the Sentinel's Classified Section offering the chairs for sale at $8 each. Readers recognized the bargain, too.

Mrs. Gibbs called to cancel the ad, saying there were 7 or 8 people at her door and the phone had been ringing like crazy all morning.

Law And Order vs. Law And Justice

A panel discussion on "Law and Order" versus "Law and Justice" will be sponsored by the Community Action Committee of the Jewish Community of La Jolla next week.

Jerry Morrison, Jewish Community president, said the discussion will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Jacobs, 8031 La Jolla Shores Drive.

On the panel will be Superior Court Byron Lindsley, Capt. William Kolender, of the San Diego Police Department; Leland Featherman, an attorney; and Richard Phelps.

The panel discussion will be open for anyone who might want to attend.

Morrison said the Community Action Committee was set up by the Jewish Community as an action group for community service.

The Jewish Community will hold its first adult discussion group at 8 p.m. on Nov. 25 at the home of Bea Bingham Place.

Ben Zweifach, 8811 Nottingham, will be the discussion leader.

To be discussed at the meeting will be the book "A Guest for the Night." Discussion leader will be Jaime Alazraki.

President Morrison reported that the Jewish community's first two social events for 1968-69 were both successful.

There were large turnouts for the Succoth party late last month and a lox and bagel brunch early this month.

Also, the group's Sunday school is off to an excellent start, according to Morrison.

Classes are held at La Jolla High School.

Membership of the community organization also is reported growing rapidly.

Membership forms can be obtained by writing to the Jewish Community of La Jolla at Post Office Box 1402, La Jolla, Calif. 92037.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By DOCTOR JOHN J. FLYNN Doctor of Chiropractic

Q—I've got these headaches all the time. They're caused by constipation. Once I take a laxative I'm all set for awhile. Can a spinal misalignment cause constipation?

A—It's estimated that one hundred and sixty-two million dollars are spent by Americans every year on laxatives that will not correct the basic cause of their constipation but will only provide temporary relief. Many of these laxatives are too harsh and can cause injury to the system if taken over long periods. Many can and do cause serious health problems through adverse side effects. Rather than swallow large doses of chemicals in an effort to correct your constipation trouble, I'd have an x-ray taken to make sure that there's no interference in your nervous system. A pinched nerve or one that's blocked by a spinal segment being out of line on your spinal column can cause a constraint or tightening of the bowels.

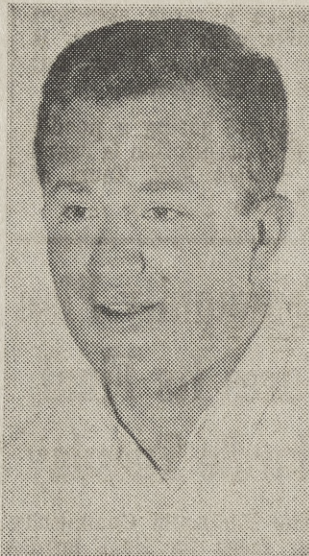

SLIPPED DISC Q—I'm getting married soon and I haven't told my boyfriend about the slipped disc I have in my back. I never bowl with him or anything 'cause I'm afraid it'll act up. I've kept it a secret for two years. He thinks I'm just a wallflower. What can I do?

A—You've obviously let your herniated or ruptured disc problem go too far as it is. This plus the mental anguish of not telling your boyfriend is simply compounding your problems. There's nothing to be ashamed of. Surgical intervention is sometimes necessary in extreme cases, but you should know that 80 per cent or more than 800 disc cases out of 1,000 have responded favorably to corrective Chiropractic care.

Doctor Flynn welcomes your letters on health problems. Mail your questions to his office at 6943 Linda Vista Road or telephone for an appointment directly with him. Dr. Flynn is a member of the Associated Chiropractors of California, a non-profit organization whose members have agreed to provide x-rays, examinations and office consultations without obligation to anyone that requests these services in order to determine if they can be helped back to health through Chiropractic. Seven paintings by Meredith Moore are on display at the Ocean Beach Branch Library during November.

The paintings are executed in watercolors and acrylics; one is a collage. Mrs. Moore is a member of the Clairemont Art Guild.

The library, located at 4801 Santa Monica Ave. is open Monday through Thursday from 1-9 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Financial Report

By TOM MARTIN

ESQUIRE'S namesake magazine is slanted toward a sophisticated audience, but the company also serves the younger set in a big way with its educational films. (It has just gone into textbooks, too.)

The other part of its business — commercial lighting fixtures — is quite different, but it supplied the largest portion (38%) of revenues in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1968. Educational products accounted for about 26% and magazine publishing 36%.

In the course of its expansion, a good part of it through acquisitions, Esquire has shown considerable acumen. However, its impressive earnings uptrend was brought to a halt in the last fiscal year, largely because of reduced federal funds for education, a situation that has crimped profits for many other producers of educational materials.

Earnings fell to $1.30 a share from $1.65 for 1967. Profits for the first quarter of the current year were also off. Earnings for the full year may match last year's, but much will depend on how schools spend their funds in the current half.

The backlog for Esquire's lighting equipment has picked up, however, and a 7.5% advertising rate increase and other price boosts should help profits.

In all, Esquire's earnings progress should resume, although not at a rate as spectacular as that before the recent setback. While any big increase in federal aid to education will probably have to await a Vietnam settlement, the trend of spending on education is definitely upward.

And Esquire is likely to continue to be active in acquisitions. Among its recent additions: a firm that rejuvenates old movies and a company that makes measuring instruments, including apparatus for testing air pollution.

No Tax Bill?

Here's What To Do About It

Did you receive your tax bill?

Approximately 2,000 taxpayers didn't, either because of no mailing address in the Tax Collector's files, or because the bill was returned undelivered by the Post Office.

Tax bills were mailed Oct. 31 by James E. Jones, Tax Collector, to San Diego County property owners. If you have not received yours, notify the Tax Collector immediately in order to avoid a late payment and penalty.

Call 234-8813, ext. 271, or write to James E. Jones, Tax Collector, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego, Calif. 92101, or go to Room 162, County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Hwy., San Diego, Calif.

If your taxes are paid by a loan company or bank it is not necessary to request a bill from the Tax Collector.

Hospital Gets Accreditation For Three Years

Accreditation of University Hospital of San Diego County for a three year period was announced today by John R. Moore, associate director.

He said notification of the award by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals was received from Dr. John D. Porterfield, executive director. Representatives of the national group made their inspection visit at the hospital in August, Moore said.

He noted that to receive accreditation, it is imperative that a hospital meet critical standards designed to assure optimal care and protection for patients in every area of activity within the hospital. All interns and residents must serve in an accredited hospital, Moore said, to fulfill qualifications for board examinations.

Four national medical and hospital organizations comprise the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals which grants the certificate: The American College of Physicians, The American College of Surgeons, The American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

Nixon Has Chance To Show Leadership

If an election in any of the countries to the south of us had been as close as the Nixon-Humphrey one was here, chances are the populace would not have accepted it with the quiet dignity we did ours.

But even though we have laid away the returns in much the same quiet way that a housewife puts aside a summer garment now that cold weather has arrived, the problems are not apt to go away as easily.

The closeness of the vote indicates the division in the country and the strength of the Wallace movement indicates the depths to which it goes.

What the country really needed was a big win by either side — a strong and definite indication of the direction the country should take.

The people did not give Mr. Nixon the vote of confidence he needs. In fact, he was not elected President so much as he was given a chance to prove he can be President.

What he does with the problems of law and order, Vietnam, the war on poverty, inflation, student unrest, and the growing attitude of permissiveness will either make him or further fragment the country to where it can lose its old identity.

The new President's load is not lightened by the fact that the Congress is dominated by the other party. Nonetheless, this should not prove to be the handicap that some have predicted.

If Mr. Nixon can lead out with bold, imaginative, yet sound solutions that appeal to the people, the Democratic Congress will ride along, if for no other reason than the people will force it to.

FDR and Harry Truman worked miracles with Congress for periods of time, not so much because it was of the same political party as because these men provided ideas that had great appeal and solutions that promised much benefit.

You will recall that LBJ was equally successful during his early period, but when he commenced to lose favor with the people, he commenced to suffer reverses with Congress.

The legislative body — and particularly the House — is quick to reflect the mood of the people. If Mr. Nixon can do something after the election that he was unable to do before, Congress is not likely to stand in the way.

The United States needs a leader—a strong President and a credible one — as much now as it ever has. Certainly the Sentinel wishes Mr. Nixon well — not only for his own personal sake but for that of America's, as well.

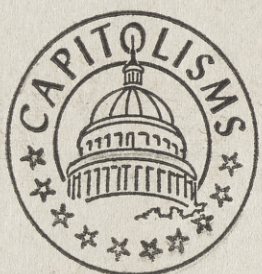

Remember all the talk at the time of the conventions about the parties' planks? That's the last time anyone mentioned them.

Hubert Humphrey should be relieved. Look at all the promises he doesn't have to keep.

Richard Nixon says he doesn't believe in busing. That's all right for him to say, he's got a plane!

At Thanksgiving the Republicans will have turkey and the Democrats will eat crow.

Let's see, Larry O'Brien has been with JFK, LBJ, RFK and HHH. Isn't it about time for him to switch to RMN?

George Wallace says he proved something. He did; he proved the voters aren't nearly as crazy as he thought they were.

The best thing about Nixon's victory is now we won't have to sit through a Humphrey inaugural address.

The Illinois result in show-biz parlance: Ev Dirksen sings again!

Gen. Curtis LeMay on the election: "Oh, well, back to the ready room for debriefing."

The toughest part of not having your man win is having to sit around and count the days until 1972.

Say, does anybody know for whom Jackie Onassis voted?

One man describes his job as "political taxidermy." He stuffs ballot boxes.

The big voter turnout did just that—turned out a lot of old politicians.

Richard Nixon Will Find Time To Build The Republican Party

By PAUL HOPE

WASHINGTON — Richard M. Nixon has always been a party man and it is logical to assume that while devoting his attention principally to the nation's problems, he also will find time to build the Republican party.

Despite winning the presidency, the GOP still is the minority party. Only about 25 per cent of the voters claim allegiance to the Republican party, while some 40 per cent profess membership in the Democratic party.

But the Republicans now have an opportunity to build that has not been present since Franklin Roosevelt forged his grand Democratic coalition nearly 40 years ago.

First, the Democratic coalition of labor, Negroes, intellectuals and the South has fallen apart.

While Nixon did poorly among the Negroes, the restive black population has grown increasingly disenchanted with the Democratic party it consistently has supported over the years.

Labor leaders still command some influence among the workers but the days are over when they are able to control the way union men vote.

The intellectual community has been one of the focal points of dissent that helped tear the Democrats apart this year.

Except for Texas, the one-voiced South didn't give Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey a single electoral vote.

All these groups are not exactly panting to move into the Republican party. But the old party loyalty no longer binds them and they are more available.

The two-party system already has grown considerably in the South. If it hadn't been for George Wallace's third-party venture, Nixon probably would have carried almost all of it.

Southern Appeal
The Republican party has an appeal to the South because both it and Nixon have a basically conservative image. This image is a handicap in wooing other elements of the Democratic party, but it need not be an insurmountable one. Now that Nixon has been elected, he can and probably will move away from the right-leaning stance that he felt necessary to win the Republican nomination, and back toward the political center.

While he did not campaign in the nation's ghettos, Nixon did open the lines of communication to the Negro community. If he can get his "Black Capitalism" program working and can make good on his promises the Republican party will find substantial numbers of Negroes ready to support it.

If he maintains prosperity, there is no reason to doubt that the Republican party will have a good share of support from the working man.

Despite impressions to the contrary, the Republican party already has a fair base of support at colleges and universities. Nixon undoubtedly will draw heavily on the intellectual community in selecting men who will help run his administration.

A second major factor in the Republican opportunity to make inroads on the Democratic party is Nixon himself. Under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, party organization was allowed to drift. Eisenhower was not a party-oriented man, but Nixon is.

Nixon has toiled ceaselessly for the party through the fat years and the lean. It was his party dedication that was largely responsible for his nomination. And while he says he intends to call upon men in both parties to staff his administration, he certainly will see that party affairs and the nuts and bolts of party operation are not forgotten.

Although the GOP did not win a majority in either the House or the Senate, the party is in a strong position around the country.

It picked up five governorships and now leads in that department 31 to 19. More important, it controls the state house in every big state except Texas. Having party leaders sitting in the governors' chairs won't hurt as the GOP goes about the task of building the party in the industrial states.

Furthermore, the Republican party has produced fresh and exciting faces in the past several years, especially in the Senate — Edward Brooke, Charles Percy, Mark Hatfield, Howard Baker, Charles Mathias, Robert Griffin. It has other new leaders like New York's Mayor John Lindsay. And it still has progressive stalwarts like Govs. George Romney and Nelson Rockefeller and former Gov. William Scranton whose leadership and advice undoubtedly will be called upon in the new Nixon administration.

Forces Retreat In War Against Crime

By DON MACLEAN

WASHINGTON—While we may be moving forward in dozens of areas — science, medicine, agriculture, transportation, etc.—we do seem to be moving backward in one—the war against crime.

Were it not for the changes in clothing styles, one could almost swear he was living in the Wild West of the 1850s.

It's ridiculous. Here in the latter half of the 20th Century we have 16 of the leading financial institutions in the capital city of the world's greatest nation banding together to post rewards for bank robbers!

If Jesse James were alive today he'd say, "Man, this is where I came in."

The act of posting rewards is a sad enough commentary on our times, but sadder is the fact that Washington's biggest banks ran full-page advertisements in the papers here to explain the rewards and nobody seems excited about it. The officials of law and order aren't even a wee bit embarrassed.

As my German grandmother would have said, "Ach!"

It's gotten so bad in Washington, and many other cities of the nation, have almost as many holdup men waiting in lines at the tellers' windows as they do depositors. It kind of makes you nervous to be standing there waiting to put money in and be wondering, at the same time, if the guy behind you is going to be taking it out with a gun.

Hardly a day goes by here that you don't pick up the paper in the morning and read of a couple of bank robberies, at least one involving a thrilling police chase with wild shooting and speeds of 110 miles per hour. It would all be great fun if it were a TV drama or a movie, but it's live, friends, live, and that's the shame of it all.

Our banks, in their ads, say they'll pay $2,000 to anyone who gives them information leading to the arrest, conviction and sentencing of persons who rob their banks. Offhand, I would say this money is pretty safe; a fair number of bank robbers are caught, but fewer are convicted and fewer still are actually sentenced.

Just about every day one reads of an armed robbery being committed by a man who is out on bond while awaiting trial on a charge of armed robbery. The right of ordinary citizens to be protected from gunslings has been sacrificed on the altar of rights for suspected criminals.

Not stated in the banks' ads, but clearly implied, is that they have lost faith in the ability of our society's law enforcement people to protect them. One bank official told me that banks may one day have to cease walking in transactions and insist that all banking be done by mail. I repeat, "Ach!"

It's Wisdom At U.N.

By JAMES KILPATRICK

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.— It is a reassuring measure of the essential sanity of the American press that the worst lunacies of the United Nations seldom are reported at length. This glassy Tower of Babel is a veritable factory of resolutions, some of them sensible and some of them moonshine. The prudent custom of copy editors is to bury the nonsense in three paragraphs back with the used car ads.

This was the case a few weeks ago when the General Assembly's Trusteeship Committee—which is to say, the General Assembly itself—adopted a remarkable resolution having to do with Rhodesia. The story got very little play in the news. This was a pity for men and organizations are understood not by their wisdom alone, but by their folly as well.

This was a long resolution, composed of a windy preamble and 16 ringing assertions. It begins with an expression of concern for the "dangerous situation" that obtains in Rhodesia, without bothering to explain that the dangerous situation is the handiwork of power-hungry terrorists.

The authors of the resolution were disappointed that economic sanctions, imposed by the Security Council, had failed to produce the "desired result." They were disappointed that Great Britain, which in their view is the "administering power" for Rhodesia, had failed to put an end to the illegal regime in Rhodesia and to turn the country over to the people of Zimbabwe (as the blacks of Rhodesia would like to be known). Therefore, the committee:

"Affirms the conviction that the only effective way of quelling the rebellion in Southern Rhodesia is through the use of force by the administering power;

"Condemns the failure and the refusal of the government of the United Kingdom . . . to take effective measures to bring down the illegal racist minority regime and to transfer power to the people of Zimbabwe;

"Calls upon the government of the United Kingdom to use force in order to put an immediate end to the illegal regime in Southern Rhodesia, and in this regard notes with appreciation the offers by Zambia and the Democratic Republic of the Congo to make available their territories and air space for this purpose; (and) . . .

"Urges all States, as a matter of urgency, to render all moral and material assistance to the National Liberation Movements of Zimbabwe either directly or through the Organization of African Unity."

In other sections, the resolution of Oct. 20 denounces South Africa and Portugal and demands that economic sanctions be imposed upon them as well. As for Rhodesia, the present drastic and punitive measures should be widened to include "all the measures laid down in Article 41 of the Charter," which is to say, Rhodesia should be denied any communication whatever with the outside world, by air, sea, mail, telephone, telegraph, or other means.

Now, this is an astounding resolution for a body presumably dedicated to keeping peace in the world. It is an appeal to arms, made with apparent indifference to the bloody upheaval that would ensue. In one breath, the resolution acknowledges that Rhodesia's independence is the internal business of Great Britain; in the next, the resolution violates the command of the U.N. Charter that the U.N. shall never interfere in domestic responsibilities. The committee knows that the sanctions unavoidably have operated most harshly upon Rhodesia's four million blacks; so the committee would make their troubles worse.

The resolution was adopted 89-9. The United States voted against it, but such good friends as Canada, Italy, France, Japan and Brazil were paralyzed by fear of offending the African bloc. They merely abstained.

On Monday, Rhodesia observed the third anniversary of her Declaration of Independence. While the U.N. blandly recognizes puppet states, despotic regimes, and the denial of "inalienable rights" throughout the Communist world, the peace-loving members of the African bloc would crush Rhodesia by force.

Anywhere else, this double standard would be known as hypocrisy or worse. Here at the United Nations, it passes for the solemn wisdom of the world's best hope for peace.

Harris Poll

Live-And-Let-Live

By LOUIS HARRIS

The marriage of Jacqueline Kennedy to Aristotle Onassis stirred up controversy among the American public as few private events in recent times. A high 61%, however, agreed with the position that the matter is "not my business, but theirs." At the same time, those who personally approved of the marriage only slightly outnumbered those who did not, 35 to 31%.

Men were more inclined to a "live-and-let-live" attitude than women, and the young took the former First Lady's side more frequently than those over 50. Nearly everyone interviewed expressed rather strong views, pro or con.

Although a plurality of those with opinions condoned the marriage, Catholics said they disapproved by 40 to 31%. By 52 to 25%, the American people feel the Catholic Church was "right not to recognize the marriage and not to give the former Mrs. Kennedy the Sacraments of the Church."

When asked their opinion of the former First Lady, by 2 to 1 the public reaction is still favorable to Mrs. Onassis personally. Key positive attitudes volunteered were: "She is a gracious, warm lady" (13%); "good-looking, attractive" (12%); "good mother, devoted to her children" (12%); "was a good First Lady and wife to J.F.K." (11%); "has grace and composure" (5%), and "was brave and courageous after the assassination" (8%).

The chief negative reactions to the marriage centered on the criticisms that "she could have married a better man" (18%); "Onassis is too old" (8%); "did it for money" (7%); "ruined her image as wife of the President" (3%); and "was wrong to marry a foreigner" (3%).

Only 4% of the public reported that it now "thinks less" of the Kennedy family as a result of the marriage, 2% said they "think more" of the family, while 94% had not changed their views.

Typical of those commenting favorably was a 27-year-old man, a Catholic, in Azusa, Calif., who said: "It doesn't matter to me whom she marries. I especially like her elegance, her poise. She acts real cool, the way she acted when her husband was killed." Another came from a 37-year-old woman in the Bronx, N.Y.: "She was a widow for five years. She has been strong and pulled through her burden. She has been sincere and loyal and understanding to the country. She has been intelligent in that she has been criticized many times and took it like a woman. I respect her." Another came from a 55-year-old woman in Onawa, Iowa: "I picked my mate, and she can pick hers. It's her own business. She has a nice personality."

The criticisms were equally firmly held. Typical was this comment from a 54-year-old Catholic woman from Gloversville, N.Y.: "The legend of Camelot died. She lost her image as wife of a President." A 72-year-old Catholic woman in Tecumseh, Neb., said: "She gave up her religion married a man entirely too old. A woman of her status could have done so much better."

While there is a good deal of division over the marriage itself, the stand of the Catholic Church on the wedding is widely recognized and believed to be "right." The cross section was asked:

"The Catholic Church said it cannot recognize the marriage because Onassis has been married before, and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis can no longer receive the Sacraments of the Church. Do you feel the Catholic Church was right or wrong to take this stand on the marriage?"

State Traffic Death Rate Falls For First Time In History

The statewide traffic death rate in California fell below five deaths per 100 million miles of travel in 1967, the first time this has occurred since the rate has been calculated, the California Highway Patrol announced today.

Highlight of the Patrol's 78-page statistical report of fatal and injury motor vehicle traffic accidents in 1967, released this week was the good news about the continuing downward trend in the mileage death rate, to a new low of 4.9 per 100 million vehicle miles.

If the death rate had been as high as it was 20 years ago, an additional 4367 traffic deaths would have occurred this year. In 1947, the mileage death rate was 9.3. By 1957 it had dropped to 6.0. In 1966 the rate was 3.0, and in 1967 it reached the new low of 4.9.

The record low rate occurred despite the fact that the number of people killed increased by 53 (from 4,830 to 4,883). An increase in statewide travel of 3.62 per cent was sufficient to counteract the increase in fatalities.

The rate of deaths per fatal accident was higher in 1967 than in 1966. The rates were 1.158 and 1.146, respectively.

In compiling the occurrences of various types of fatal accidents, it was noted that the largest change occurred in the single vehicle accident categories of ran-off-road. In fact, it was the ran-off-road type of accident which caused the increase in fatalities in 1967.

In 1966, 1,248 fatal accidents involved a vehicle which ran off the road. In 1967, the number increased to 1,288.

In 1966, 1,385 people were killed when vehicles ran off the road. In 1967, that type of accident took 1,475 lives, an increase of 80.

Injury accidents increased by 1.2 per cent over 1966, and the number of injured victims increased by 1.7 per cent. The greatest increase in injuries was in the "complaint of pain" category, which was up 3.7 per cent, compared to an increase of only 2 per cent for bleeding wounds and 8 per cent for other visible injuries.

The greatest number of fatalities on any single day occurred on Friday, Dec. 22, when 40 persons were killed. Runners-up were Sunday, Nov. 19, and Sunday, Aug. 20, with 35 people killed on each day. On 12 other days of the year, all of them Friday, Saturday or Sunday, 25 or more fatalities occurred.

No day of 1967 was free of traffic fatalities, but on three (Wednesday, Feb. 1, Tuesday, June 20, and Thursday, Mar. 9) only one fatality occurred.

Most dangerous hour of the day was between 5 and 6 p.m. when 13,283 of the 136,536 fatal and injury accidents occurred.

Fifty-three per cent of the fatal accidents occurred during the hours of darkness, and an additional 4 per cent occurred during the hours of dusk or dawn.

In contrast, 60 per cent of the injury accidents occurred during daylight hours.

Combining fatal and injury accidents, 93,743 occurred in the daylight hours, and 62,793 in the hours from dusk to dawn.

Saturday was the day of the week on which the greatest number of both fatal and injury accidents occurred. Fewer fatal accidents occurred on Tuesdays than on any other day of the week.

New Benefits Told For Disabled Survivors

If you are disabled and are the widow, widower, or divorced wife of a worker who was insured under social security at death, you may be able to get monthly benefits.

Before the 1967 Amendments, a widow could not get social security benefits until she reached age 60 unless she had in her care a child entitled to benefits based on her husband's earnings.

Under the new law a widow who is unable to work because of severe disability, and whose husband worked long enough under social security, may be able to get monthly benefits as early as age 50. Or if she and her husband were divorced after their marriage had lasted 20 years or longer and he was contributing to her support at the time of his death (or was under a court order to do so) she may be eligible for disabled widow's benefits.

In general, you can be eligible for these benefits only if your disability started before your husband's death or within 7 years after his death. However, if you received benefits as a widow with children, you could be eligible if you were disabled before these payments ended, or within 7 years after they ended.

Payments can start for the seventh full month of your disability, but the first month in which you can get a payment under this new provision is March 1968.

If you are a disabled widower 50 or older and you were receiving at least half of your support from your wife at the time she died, you may be eligible for benefits.

If you have any questions on this or any other part of social security, write to Franklin R. Maddison, Social Security Office, 3211 5th Avenue, San Diego, 92103.

Fashion Valley

Leaders
Look At Buffums'

A group of San Diego civic leaders were given a preview Thursday of one of San Diego's new and major retail developments now under construction in Fashion Valley. The firm is Buffums' one of California's distinguished department store chains, and visiting San Diego for the occasion were its chief officers and several directors.

Buffums' will be one of a group of fashion retailers to operate at the site of the former Padre ball park, which will blossom out next year as a major shopping center in Mission Valley.

At a luncheon that followed an examination of the site, Vaile G. Young, president and chairman of the board, briefly outlined the firm's policy of placing extra emphasis upon service, quality and fashion.

He revealed that a survey in San Diego indicated Buffums' was well known here and that it would receive a cordial reception from customers who had shopped its stores in Long Beach, Newport and Pomona.

He also announced the San Diego store would be managed by James I. Robinson, formerly head of Whitney's department store and one of San Diego's most popular retailers.

Young and his staff were welcomed to San Diego by Mayor Frank Curran and Clayton Brace, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dance Raises
Scholar Funds

Next Saturday, from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m., Phi Omicron Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity will give a Scholarship Fund Dance in honor of the San Diego State-Tennessee State football game. The affair will take place at Vacation Village and will be one of several to be given for the purpose of raising funds for scholarships. For further information please call 278-8154.

Music and Drama

A Seat In The Dark

By DAVID E. GREGSON

I never thought I would be sitting here writing a "rave review" of the San Diego Opera's "La Boheme." Neither did the company's press office, apparently, for I was given tickets way back in the mezzanine almost beyond the range of my feeble eyesight.

I suppose it was revenge for my attack on "Rigoletto." If you dare to say anything critical in this town you must be ready to be considered a hopeless grouch. I was lucky not to be seated in the outer lobby.

However, the production, as far as I could see and hear, was obviously superb. It is the best production ever staged by the San Diego Opera—also the best directed, acted, costumed, and (most importantly) the best sung. I am not normally disposed to react enthusiastically to something as hackneyed as "La Boheme" in English, but I should think anyone would be won around by this perfectly enchanting production.

Lee Venora is simply the best Mimi possible. The woman is a "total" performer, thanks, probably, to her experience with the New York City Opera. Her voice is not large, but it is supple and golden.

She uses it with great skill, phrasing with musicianly accuracy and profound emotion. I have seen her several times before, as Cherubino in "The Marriage of Figaro," Gilda in "Rigoletto" and Laurette in "Gianni Schicchi," all San Francisco performances. (I believe she was also in "Fidelio" with Birgit Nilsson.) She is an artist of the highest possible stature and new bow to no one.

I think the Thursday audience took her for granted, more than just a little bit. My ears, at least, couldn't have been more delighted.

Miss Venora was matched with a strikingly handsome and boyish Rodolfo. Together they blotted out the memory of the "unattractive singer." No other singers in the world, regardless of their fame, could ever equal the convincing charm of this pair. I might add that Rodolfo, John Stewart, has a sturdy, though lightweight, tenor voice, which is used with great warmth and intelligence. His acting performance and vocal ability (which only failed him in the last note of the Act One love duet) allowed one to forget inappropriate comparisons with Bjorling, Corelli and Crowl, living and dead.

The rest of the cast, without exception, carried on with above average proficiency, both as actors and as singers. These include Marcello, Richard Fredricks; Colline, Harold Enns; Schuarnard, Raymond Gibbs; Benoit, Gimi Beni and Musetta, Peggy Bonini. Miss Bonini could probably hold her own with most Musettas past and present, but her vocal pitch tends to be unsteady in spite of a lot of nice singing.

Peggy Kellner, of course, has designed a successful set which has become quite famous in San Diego. It is THE San Diego Opera set, the first and the best. After "La Boheme" the designing has been dull or ill-conceived. The dull award goes to "Faust," "Tosca," "Rigoletto," and "Aida" and the ill-conceived awards go to "Magic Flute" and "Salome."

The set is workable, attractive, and not too much nor too little as far as Bohemian quaintness goes. With the well-integrated costumes the visual picture is always pleasing, if not particularly "different."

Stage director William Adam's work, of course, is well known, and if he has his ups and downs, "La Boheme" is certainly one of his ups. T

The Magazine Rack

How fast are you aging? Reader's Digest for November tells that individuals age at vastly different rates and why. If your blood pressure greatly exceeds normal, you may be physically 20 years older than your contemporaries, and if you had four grandparents who lived to be 80, you will probably outlive most of your high-school class by four years.

Thousands of troubled marriages might be saved each year if so many physicians were not uncomfortable about female nudity, afraid to discuss emotional problems—and more embarrassed by sex than their patients are. Hard to believe? Read Redbook for November.

It takes skill, insight, and a special talent of the kind that Peter Gowan has to take those glamor photographs. It takes more than just having the right lenses, films, and developers, even though there are part of the game. Popular Photography for December clues you in.

Helen Hayes' own story, "My Loves Remembered," is a feature in November Good Housekeeping. The great lady of the American theater tells, for the first time, the private story behind her own legend.

San Diego Magazine for this month does an outstanding job on aerospace and the Aerospace Museum. Robert Hostick tells of a dynamic museum proposal.

The beautiful people play their way in Portugal.

Naval Service

Navy Seaman Apprentice Jerome M. LaRocca, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bart LaRocca of 5159 Baxter St., has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center here. In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

Vogue's eye view for November tells of the young ones, the ones with gleam, excitement, the ones who move in a gust of vitality and grace. To the unqualified European splendor of Portugal they added for sound, funky, driving American rock and soul.

Ski magazine for November tells how ski pole length affects the way you ski; Thanksgiving in the Laurentians; report on Snow-mass and why the U.S. must create a teen-age Olympic ski team.

You can follow the crowd, but you'll never become a leader.

Urban Leader Speaks Here Wednesday

Dr. John Gardner, chairman of the National Urban Coalition and former Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, will discuss the national program in an address here Wednesday.

Dr. Gardner will speak at the planning committee for the affair.

The Urban Coalition is a group of men whose aim is to marshal the community's public and private resources to coordinate their efforts to the end that successful programs are effected meeting the need of those in the community who are in need of a broad range of assistance.

A broad cross section of the public and private sectors of the San Diego community is expected to attend, said William Quirk, chairman of the Steering Committee of the local Coalition, and longtime friend of Dr. Gardner.

George A. Scott, Communications Chairman, will be master of ceremonies.

Greetings from the city and county will be extended by Mayor Frank Curran (honorary Chairman of the local Coalition), and Henry Bonney, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. George W. Smith, co-chairman, will offer the invocation and co-chairman, Clinton D. McKinnon, will discuss the accomplishments of the coalition to date.

Pauline Gleason will be at the organ and a police quartette will provide entertainment.

Dr. Gardner is considered one of the foremost authorities in the United States on urban unrest, and is slated to appear in a television series on NBC entitled, "Cities Have Limits."

The public is cordially invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Robert U. Brown, publisher and editor of Editor & Publisher magazine, will speak to a membership meeting of the San Diego Chapter, Sigma Delta Chi, Nov. 26.

Brown will speak on "Automation—Friend or Foe?" He will discuss what he believes will be the effects of automation and other technical advances on the newsman.

Brown is a former national president of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society. His magazine is the foremost news trade publication. He joined its staff in 1936 after working for newspapers and news services, and has been editor since 1944 and publisher since 1958.

The meeting will be in the Admiral Kidd Club off Harbor Drive under sponsorship of Capt. Don C. Lapham, a former bomber pilot now publisher of the San Dieguito Citizen. Lapham is a member of the SDX chapter board of directors. Dinner at 7:30 p.m. will follow a social hour.

Jazz Musician Will Lecture At San Diego State

The early days of a jazz musician in a Chicago of speakeasies, prohibition and gangland rivalries will be recalled by trumpeter Walter Fuller in a public talk at San Diego State Tuesday. Fuller, a jazz trumpeter and singer with Earl "Father" Hines band in the late twenties and early thirties, will reminisce before music students at 9:30 a.m. in Room 105 of the Music Building. Fuller's appearance is part of a two-day discussion arranged by Dr. Merle Hogg, associate professor of music, for his class entitled "Twentieth Century American Jazz."

ANOTHER BENEFIT FOR OUR SUBSCRIBERS CANCER INSURANCE

Facts, authenticated by the American Cancer Society, state that about 45,000,000 of all Americans now living will eventually have cancer. Sooner or later, cancer will strike 2 out of 3 families. One of these could be yours. HOWEVER, it is a known fact that in many instances, IF CAUGHT IN ITS EARLY STAGES, the disease can be controlled by proper medical treatment.

What Could Cancer Cost You?

Suffering and death are not the only burdens cancer imposes on its victims. Financial loss — often financial disaster — overtakes the family when disease strikes — heavy hospital, medical and surgical costs, and many "extras." The latest scientific methods used in successful treatment such as chemotherapy, cobalt, and other radiation techniques involve heavy expense. And there are other costly incidentals—laboratory tests, oxygen, blood plasma, anesthesia, prosthetic devices, special drugs and medicines, at-home nursing, ambulances — all of which add to the financial strain.

Women Transit Drivers Plan For Reunion

The 19 remaining women transit drivers are holding a reunion of women who have worked as bus drivers and street car operators in San Diego. It is to be held May 24, 1969, in conjunction with San Diego's 200th Centennial celebration.

Plans for the reunion include a no-hostess cocktail party preceding a dinner, plus several other surprises. Following the dinner the evening will be spent renewing old friendships, reminiscing and looking at scrap books.

Further information may be obtained from the Reunion Committee, 416 San Diego Trust & Savings Bldg., 530 Broadway, San Diego, 92101.

Three Young Artists Present Chamber Music At UCSD

The New York Camerata, a trio that was formed because of a wedding present, will appear at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Humanities Library Auditorium in Revelle College at the University of California.

The Camerata was formed in 1963 by three young graduates of the Manhattan School of Music — flutist Jayn Rosenfield, cellist Charles Forbes and pianist Glenn Jacobson.

One of the musicians had been "given" the opportunity to perform a private concert in Philadelphia before a select audience of musicians, critics and patrons. He asked the other two to join him and the group was born.

Later that year, in a New York recital, the Camerata was hailed for "sensitive polished chamber music playing." In 1964 the trio was honored to be the first chamber group to be presented on the Young Artist Series at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The Camerata's career has taken the three young artists on annual visits to schools, colleges, universities and concert halls in major cities where they are featured among the most illustrious names in chamber music.

The trio's programs are carefully selected for variety and interest, drawing on three centuries of literature for flute, cello and piano or harpsichord. Each member of the Camerata is an outstanding soloist, actively pursuing a career in that direction, too. William Wittig is flutist for the trio now.

The program for UCSD will include: "Assobio a Jato" (The Jet Whistle) by Villa-Lobos, "Strettos" by Hampton, "Trio in G Major" by Haydn, "Adagio, Variations and Rondo" by Hummel and "Trio" (1959) by Martinu.

Unreserved seating for the program is $3.

Canadian Consul Visits Today

Canadian Consul General Gear McEntyre and Hon. Lionel Chevrier, former attorney general of Canada, will visit San Diego today and tomorrow for the World Affairs Council meeting to be held at San Diego State College.

An open house will be held today from 2-5 p.m. at the House of Canada in Balboa Park. All former Canadians are invited.

Army Seeks Women For Many Jobs

"There's no doubt that office procedures and administration offer the best career opportunities for a girl who's a high school graduate," Sgt. Irwin D. Eldred, area Army recruiter, said today.

Today's Women's Army Corps (WAC) can guarantee qualified young women clerical positions or opportunities to train in a wide variety of fields. Members are serving as medical technicians, photographers, air traffic controllers, illustrators, communications specialists, and intelligence analysts, to mention a few.

"One great advantage of Army jobs is the chance to travel here in the United States and to many overseas areas," Eldred said. "WAC units are located in Europe and the Far East and across the States including Hawaii and Alaska. There is a detachment presently in Vietnam. Most of the women in Vietnam fill administrative positions or tend patients in Army hospitals there."

Women in the Army receive the same pay and allowances and promotion opportunities as men. They are eligible for financial assistance under the GI Bill and other benefits offered veterans.

"I'd like to discuss the Women's Army Corps programs with young women who have a desire to serve their country," Sgt. Eldred said. Recruiting offices are at 941 "C" Street, San Diego, or phone 283-5474.

Patrol Warns About Accident Procedures

"When property is damaged in a vehicle accident in which no one is hurt, the driver must then and there either locate and notify the person in charge of the damaged property of the name and address of the driver and owner of the vehicle involved or leave a note with that information in a conspicuous place on the vehicle or property damaged," Capt. Roland Gautsche of the San Diego office of the California Highway Patrol warns.

"This requirement applies on private property such as parking lots the same as on the highway," Capt. Gautsche said. "More than 170,000 property damage accidents were reported to the CHP last year. No one expects to be involved in an accident, but everyone should be prepared to do the right thing if he is involved," Capt. Gautsche stated. "Failure to do so might lead to a 'hit and run' charge."

If a note is left on property damaged in an accident, it must contain a statement of the circumstances of the collision. The driver must also "without unnecessary delay" notify the CHP or the police department having jurisdiction, Capt. Gautsche said.

"Some people's idea of progress is to improve everything but themselves."

Reader's Views

Dear Sir:

I have just read your article in the November 10th issue and I am afraid that Dr. McGill has wrongly interpreted the recent state-wide vote on college bond issues. Since you did not express a contrary opinion on the subject could it be that you also missed the opinion of the majority of the voters who in most cases are the taxpayers who have been supporting our state-wide school system.

The voters are trying to get over to the management and faculty of our colleges and universities that they are not satisfied with the way the system has been run for the past few years. Why should 1% or less of the students be permitted to upset the orderly operation of the institution as well as destroying the actual property.

Now if Dr. W. J. McGill is so interested in the various projects mentioned in your article, such as New Hospital Improvements $750,000; Hospital Addition $181,000; and Improvement Losses $728,000, then let them sell the Black Estate property which the school paid some 4 to 5 million dollars and take care of the above items.

The operation of our schools will have to change before the taxpayers are going to vote more money.

Sincerely,
A Taxpayer

Editor:

When we first moved to Pacific Beach from Whittier a year ago, I immediately noticed Rose Creek and often, as I have crossed it on Grand or Garnet Avenue, I have thought how good it was to have a real stream through the town.

In the Los Angeles area, the river and creek beds have been cemented into "flood - control channels." These monotonous concrete troughs, the older ones stained and with weeds growing through cracks, make the bordering suburbs look like slums. Since there is rarely a trickle of water in them any more, we have wondered why the Army must protect us from floods. The whole process seems to be produced by a mindless flood control juggernaut. The flood control engineers also build dams, and they once had plans to build $400,000 worth of check dams in the Little Santa Anita Canyon, one of the most beautiful spots in the San Gabriel Mountains.

These dams would have been useless, according to geologists, and their construction would have stripped the canyon's vegetation and waterfalls, as similar projects have done in neighboring canyons. An angry Sierra Madre city council kept the engineers out. (See Sunset Magazine, May, 1967, and February, 1968).

Now we read that Rose Creek will soon be cemented. Is there a history of destructive flooding in it? Is there really no natural-looking way to control it?

Admittedly, I am a newcomer to Pacific Beach and I may not have all the facts. But it is a shame to make streams look like abandoned freeways.

If San Diego wants to look like Los Angeles, destroying Rose Creek is a good way to start.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Ross W. Stockwell.

Rockets Orbit East

Elvin (Big E) Hayes and the San Diego Rockets travel east this week for games at New York and Boston before returning to the Sports Arena for a 8 p.m. Friday clash with the Seattle SuperSonics.

Hayes, who set the NBA individual game scoring high for the season last week with 54 points against Detroit, will be up against New York's rough frontline of Walt Bellamy and Willis Reed on Tuesday night.

Bellamy and Reed gave the San Diego rookie a good physical beating or three quarters here Nov. 5th before he broke loose for 15 points in the final period to lead a 113-109 Rocket victory.

The next evening at Baltimore the Rockets will take their third shot at the Bulls and Earl (The Pearl) Monroe, whose 35 points in each game has produced two wins over San Diego this season.

ELVIN HAYES

Hayes again will be the key or the Rockets as he continues his new style of attack. After a talk last week with coach Jack McMahon, the Big E started driving to the basket instead of shooting a fadeaway jump shot from 15 feet out.

The result was his 54 point outburst because by going to the basket he is in tight for offensive rebounds and draws more fouls.

Big E has been taking advantage of his free throw chances at a 78 percent clip during a six game span last week as he sank 51 of 65 attempts.

The Rockets game against Seattle at the Sports Arena will feature a special T-Shirt Night at which youngsters (high school age and under) when accompanied by a paid adult, will receive a free Rocket T-Shirt.

DEFENSE—A stout defense aided the Kearny Komets to the Western League Championship this season, holding all opponents to a total of 66 points. That averages to a little over seven points per game. Rain and mud didn't change the Kearny determination Friday night as the Komets held powerful Point Loma to one touchdown. Getting "wet time" action for the Komets (in the mud covered white) are: Dwight MacDonald (88), Ted Mack (45), Dick Merrill (50), Bob Koston (55), and Mike Allen (76). The object of all this effort is Craig Settles (22) in the dark jersey. Kearny won the Western League Title downing the Pointers 25-7.

Meagher Named Star Of Month

Mike Meagher, defensive quarterback of the 1958 San Diego Aztecs football team, has been selected by the Breitbard Athletic Foundation to receive the October "Amateur Star of the Month Award."

Meagher, a 6-foot 208 pound linebacker is responsible for calling all the defensive alignments for the Aztecs. His leadership, his uncanny ability to diagnose plays and his own individual play has been the key to probably the best all-around defense the Aztecs have ever fielded.

Mike is married, is an English Literature major, and has an overall grade point average of 3.5.

Dons Squeak Past Vikings In Mud Bath

By JEFF HORVITZ
Sentinel Sports Writer

If football games were rated for excitement, Friday's La Jolla-University clash would go right to the top of the list. It was a must game for University in their bid for the Metropolitan Conference "at large" invitation for CIF championship play. La Jolla all but halted the Dons' plans.

The game was decided in the last minutes of play when the teams totaled 213 yards. In a give and take battle where the lead changed four times and played in ankle deep mud, University came out on top of an 18-14 score. When the gun went off, signaling the end of the game, La Jolla had the ball on Uni's 10 yard line calling for a clock killing time out. It was the kind of game you mark as one of the best ever played.

University Coach Bull Trometer will. He said the Vikings were one of the best teams he's seen. "This was definitely our hardest earned victory all season," said the Bull. "You always have to expect a rough game when you meet La Jolla. They always play that way."

University got rolling on their first set of downs as quarterback Tim Gallagher ran a keeper for 57 yards to the La Jolla ten yard-line. Three plays later, Tom Daniels bulldozed his way over from the two for the score. That's when the Dons got their first good look at the quarterbacking of La Jolla's Scott Boughton. Boughton engineered a late second-period touchdown drive, ending it with a 45-yard pass to Craig Anderson. He followed with a successful conversion to put the Vikings out in front, 7-6.

University found the going pretty rough in the third period as the rugged La Jolla defense wouldn't give an inch. Early in the fourth quarter, the Dons finally broke through with work-horse Dean Rice galloping 16 yards around right end for a touchdown. The extra point attempt failed and University held a 12-7 lead. It wouldn't last very long, however.

Dons Go To Finals

University Football Coach Bull Trometer is all smiles today, at least he's wearing what passes for a smile. The Dons have been selected as the Metropolitan Conference "at large" team. University joins Western League Champion Kearny in the San Diego CIF tournament. Eastern League titlist Morse and Grossmont League Champion El Capitan round out the four team tourney.

Kearny will face Morse next Friday night at Balboa Stadium in one semifinal contest. El Capitan lines up against University at Aztec Bowl the following night. Kick off for both games is 8 p.m. Winners will clash Saturday night, Nov. 30 at Aztec Bowl for the San Diego District CIF large school crown. It could be an all Western League affair with Kearny and University fighting it out for the city crown.

La Jolla bounced right back on their next drive with Boughton leading the way again. The Vikes triple-threat man passed and ran the La Jolla squad down to the University fourteen-yard line. On the following play, Boughton stunned the Don defense with a sparkling 14-yard scoring run through the middle.

With La Jolla back in the lead and only three minutes left in the game, it looked as if the Vikes just couldn't be overtaken. But if there's one team that can't be sold short, it's University.

The Dons came up with some razzle-dazzle in the last half minute as Gallagher lofted a 47-yard pass to Rice, putting the ball on the La Jolla eight. Immediately after, Don Weir took a pass from Gallagher for the touchdown, and the final score, read 18-14. It was a classic season finale, and will be remembered for years to come.

Putting first things first, Trometer paid tribute to Viking quarterback Scott Boughton on the fine game he played. "Boughton is an outstanding player. He can do everything; he's by far the best quarterback I've seen in the entire city."

Surf Scene

By DOUG SMITH

A dream come true in beautiful Puerto Rico; that is the life of little Margo Godfrey, who isn't so little anymore. Margo is the "new" World's Women Surfing Champion.

Margo is only 15 years old and has had only half the experience of most of her competitors. The West Coast will be mighty proud of her, especially since she kept the Women's Division Championship here.

Joyce Hoffman has held the title for the West Coast since 1966. The Windansea Surf Club of which Margo is a member, is equally proud. Congratulations, Margo!

Unofficial results of the World Paddle competition have been received with Bill Mount 1st, Kenny Linn 2nd and Jerry Bennette 3rd. All are from the West Coast. Mike Doyle and Margo Godfrey placed 2nd in the Tandem event. First place results have not been received.

All surfers holding 1968 or 1969 WSA Class 2A and Class 1A competition cards are reminded of the 7th Annual Santa Monica Mid-winter Surfing Championships being held Dec. 7-8, 1968. Applications are available at District 6 headquarters, 2581 Quivira Ct., or call 222-5653. Class 1A surfing championships will be held as part of the same event.

Windansea Surf Club will be sponsoring an invitational contest open to top surfers from the Northern California region, mainly the Monterey - San Francisco area. The event is scheduled for December or early January.

Today's high of 6.3 will arrive at 6:36 a.m. followed by a low of minus 0.1 coming at 1:18 p.m. A second high of 4.7 will take place at 7:18 p.m. Water temperature at Mission Beach 60 degrees.

Kearny Komets Klinch Krown

By JOHN E. WIRGES
Sentinel Sports Editor

Neither Rain, Nor Snow, Nor Sleet, Nor Point Loma could stop the Kearny Komets from winning the Western League Championship Friday night, though both rain and Point Loma did their best. Snow and sleet were no shows.

Rain softened ground, mud and pools of water hampered the Komets in their drive for the title at Aztec Bowl. The ball was wet, the footing was unsure and the rains came down in steady fall. The Komets seemed to have little trouble with conditions, but for three quarters the Kearny krowd had all they could handle with Point Loma.

The Komets scored first on a pass from Gene Watkins to Eddie Eviszior from 12 yards out. Watkins set the play after the longest quarterback sneak seen for a few years in wet weather. He roared up the middle for 53 yards.

The Pointers came right back on a 48 yard drive kept healthy by a halfback pass option play from Craig Nettles to flanker Steve Seaton that covered 22 yards. Bob Kaye, the Lomans quarterback, plunged for the tally from the one and the conversion was good. Point Loma led 7-6 well into the third quarter while the rain soaked field took on the image of a sea of mud.

The Komets came alive in the late stages pushing across a score on a two-yard plunge by Joe Mack (the Truck), capping an 80 yard drive in 13 plays. A few minutes later, Watkins romped with a keeper of his own, covering 25 yards for the TD, after the Komets recovered a Pointer fumble.

Watkins hit Eviszior with a 48 yard pass for a tally with just minutes left in the game to close out the scoring in what for three quarters had been a squeaker. The Komets won 25-7 and go on to the San Diego District CIF semi-finals next week.

Jockey Alvaro Pineda has a goal. And he has a plan. There'll be no weekends off for the talented saddlesmith between now and the end of the year as he attempts to win the National Riding Championship, an achievement denied him in 1967.

The handsome Mexican rider won 419 races last year, the third highest total in turf history, yet he finished second behind Jorge Valesquez for national honors.

This year Pineda is involved in another duel for the title, this time with Angel Cordero, Jr., Pineda has a two or three race advantage going on a day to day basis. In an attempt to preserve his margin, even perhaps extend it, Pineda has developed a plan. He rides at Bay Meadows during the week and commutes to Caliente for Sunday mounts. He has up to eleven more horses a week with a chance at a few winners each Sunday. Cordero is doing all his campaigning in the east.

Pineda, just 22 years old, got his start as a stakes jockey at the border track after trying his luck in Mexico City. The riding contender began his career at Caliente in 1964. He comes from a family of seven boys and one girl for whom he provided a new home overlooking his "good-luck" track, Agua Caliente.

Bucs Come On In Late Rally To Nip 'Hawks

There are those who believe the rain on Friday was just another ill omen directed toward Madison High School. The Hawks have had a lot of luck in the past few years, almost all of it bad. The crowning point came Friday when for the first time this fall rain hampered prep play. It was also Madison's homecoming.

Mission Bay, a team who also had a downhill run in the luck department, got an even break from the fickle lady and eked past the Warhawks 13-12 with a touchdown in the last three minutes of the game.

Mike Marquez was the big man for the Bucs. He plunged over from two yards out for the winning tally capping a 60 yard drive. Marquez booted a conversion earlier in the game after Wayne Myron scored to give the Bucaneers the edge.

Larry Zajonic and Mike McQuinn scored from the 'Hawks in a never give-up effort. Though suffering through a disappointing season, the Warhawks give every evidence of the fighting spirit needed to come back strong next year.

Both teams have a number of underclassmen playing well on both offense and defense. The Hawks and the Bucs could be a factor in the league title picture next season, if lady luck finds some other pad to homestead.

Morse Mangles Clairemont, 41-7

Clairemont High School ended the 1968 football season on a losing note but with a winning attitude. The Chiefs played Eastern League Champion Morse in a day game, Friday, coming out on the short end of a 41-7 score.

Clairemont, going through a building season, used underclassmen in the lineup through the second half of the season. The Chiefs finished with a 3-6 record but will return most of teams starters next year.
